WYATT SEXUAL HISTORY QUESTIONNAIRE

INSTRUCTIONS

INTERVIEWER:

This is a sexual history questionnaire and I will be asking you questions about your sexual education; the sexual behaviors in which you engaged; and the responses to your sexuality by people important to you, beginning from childhood to the present.

Some of these questions are difficult because they are about events that took place a long time ago; other questions may generate feelings that may embarrass you, stir up unpleasant memories or seem silly and absurd. Please answer as honestly as your memory allows. Feel free to stop me if you do not understand any questions, particularly if I use words or terms that are unfamiliar to you. While I will be taping parts of the interview in order to insure that I obtain your exact responses, this information will remain confidential at all times. Your name will not be connected with the findings.

CHILDHOOD ABUSE

It is now generally realized that many women, while they were children or adolescents, have had a sexual experience with an adult or someone older than them. By sexual, I mean behaviors ranging from someone exposing themselves (their genitals) to you to someone having intercourse with you. These experiences may have involved a relative, a friend of the family or a stranger. Some experiences are very upsetting and painful while others are not, and some may have occurred without your consent.

Now I'd like you to think back to your childhood and adolescence and remember if you had any sexual experiences with a relative, family friend, or stranger. Describe each experience completely and separately.
