

Tarjan Center Lecture Series presents:

Mental Health and Social Support During the Transition to Adulthood for Individuals with Neurodevelopmental Disorders

Christine Moody, Ph.D.

Clinical Psychology Postdoctoral Fellow, UCLA

Monday January 25th, 2021
11:30AM – 12:30PM, PST
(via Zoom)

Learning Objectives:

1. To understand relationships between mental health, social support, and young adult outcomes.
2. To identify predictors in adolescence of young adult mental health and social support.
3. To recognize differences and similarities in relevant processes and outcomes across diagnostic groups (e.g., typically developing, autism spectrum disorder, intellectual disability).

All are welcome! Registration is required

Please use this link to register:

https://uclahs.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_JyI8bkccQ8CQzZ-ViugBaA

For more information or to request a disability accommodation, contact:

cnmartinez@mednet.ucla.edu

<https://www.semel.ucla.edu/tarjan/lecture-series>

Sponsored by:

UCLA IDDRC